THE DEMOCRATIC CHAIRMAN TALKS

Views of Senator James K. Jones Upon the Situation.

SOME PLANS FOR RAISING REVENUE

Be Would Increase the Tax on Bee by $1 a Barrel -- Believes That the Poor Man Should Enjoy Tobacco Unmolested -- Is a Trifle Hazy on the Income Tax -- Explains the Success of Major McKinley.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Senator James K. Jones, chairman of the national Democratic committee, reached Wash-ington this afternoon and will remain ington this afternoon and will remain here now until congress adjourns. A reporter for the United Associated Presses saw him at his home shortly after his arrival, to whom the senator talked frankly and entertainingly upon some matters of current interest. He had just come from his hunting trip in southwestern Missouri, in company with Mr. Bryan and Governor Stone, of Missouri, which, while not satisfactory from the game bag standpoint, was eminently successful as a health restoring scheme.

"I have no idea," said Senator Jones, answering a question in regard to the probable legislation of the approaching session of congress, "that anything will be done aside from passing one usual appropriation bills. It will be a short session and it will afford no time in which to consider other matters. As to the Dingley bill, what is there in the present condition to make it any more present condition to make it any more acceptable or necessary than it was last session? I do not see anything in the line of revenue legislation can be accomplished at this session of con-gress."

Discussing plans for raising revenue, Senator Jones advanced several inter-esting propositions. "Many of the manufacturers," he said, "who supported McKinley will doubtless be sur-prised at the character of the bill that will be presented to the country. The conditions that existed when the Mc-Kinley bill of 1890 was passed were very different from those that will confront congress when it comes to deal with the question. Then there was a surplus to be dissipated; now there is a formidable deliciency to be considered. That will make necessary a radically different sort of measure.

WOULD TAX BEER. "For myself, I should support and vote for a bill to increase the tax on beer by $1 a barrel. In the first place, the alcohol in beer does not pay an equal tax with that in whisky, and in equal tax with that in whisky, and in the second place it is a tax that can be easily borne. I do not think that tobacco should be taxed to any creater amount than is now levied; it is the one thing that the poor man almost universally uses, and he should be spared an additional import. The same thing is true of coffee, and in a less degree of tea, and for that reason I do not favor taxes on them. The beer tax snould be an independent proposition—it will add $30,000.000 to the revenues, and if it be put in a bill by itself the money would come in at once.

"As to the income tax, I have not examined the decision of the supreme court with a view to determining whether or not a measure could be passed which would produce revenue for that source without waiting for an amendment to the constitution. A per capita tax might be levied, but I am opposed to taxing property. I think the property and wealth of the country should bear the cost of the government.

should bear the cost of the government. Of course, the poor man receives just as much and the same benefits from our institutions as the rich man, but they should be given to him just as public schools are given to him."

"What will be the policy of the Democratic committee, Senator? Will it continue the fight as the Republican committee are reported to have decided to do, by maintaining headquarters in the interim between committees are reported. in the interim between campaigns and educating the people by the issue of literature.

"That has not yet been officially de-cided," Senator Jones answered, "and will not be until after a consultation, the date of which has not been set-iled. It will probably not be until af-ter congress meets. But I think you can say that that fight will be kept up until the issue has been fought out." "When will that be?" M'KINLEY'S SUCCESS EXPLAINED.

"When the people of the United States have expressed their opinion directly upon the question of restoring silver to the position it occupied prior to 1873. The platform of the Republican convention was a straddle-it did not declare for the single gold standard, but only for its maintenance until bimetal lism could be secured by international agreement. I have been assured since the election by Republicans, some of wide reputation, that thousands o them voted for Major McKinley be cause they believed him to be a bime-tallist, and that as much would be done for silver under his administra-tion as could be accomplished were Bryan to be elected. And it would be secured, too, without danger of disturbances that were feared in case of Bryan's election. There was behind Major McKinley a large conservative element which distrusted the radical supporters of Bryan, afraid to trust them with the administration of affairs

But the Republicans are not united on this question and they will have to settle the matter for themselves between now and 1900.

I am firmly convinced that a vast I am firmly convinced that a vast majority of the people of this country desire bimetallism, and if the Republicans place themselves squarely in line for the gold standard, and the use of silver as subsidiary coinage only, there can be no doubt of the result of the contest. We falled to elect Bryan this year because the Republicans secured the bulk of the artisan vote, and we failed to convert enough of the farmer vote to offset it. But they are coming our way, and if Mr. Hanna is proceeding upon their track the farmer vote is ing upon their track the farmer vote is lost to the Republicans. Why, there can be no doubt of the issue."

RECEPTION TO JEWISH WOMEN.

Notional Board and Delegates Are Entertained at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Nov. 23.—The local sec-tion of the national council of the Jew-ish women tendered a reception to the national board and visiting delegates at the Mercantile club, the fashionable Hebrew organization of Philadelphia, this afternoon. A dinner was first giv-this afternoon. A dinner was first given to the guests in the handsome cafe of the club house and a general reception was held later in the library.

The members of the national board present included President Mrs. Hannah Solomon, Miss Sadie America, Miss Henrietta G. Frank, Mrs. Bertha Mandell, Mrs. Wilkowsky, Miss Wilkowsky, Miss Wilkowsky, Miss Anna Arnstein, all of Chicago; Miss Sophie Beers, of New York; Mrs. Sophie Axman, of Kansas City; Mrs. Carrie S. Benjamin, of Denver; Miss Julia Felenthal and Mrs. Nusbaum, of Marion, Ind. The local section was represented by Miss Laura Mordecal, president of Pennsylvania, and a number of other ladies. Brief addresses were made by Mrs. Solomon, Miss America and several others.

BRYAN'S DAUGHTER ILL.

The Candidate Orator, However, De parts for Denver.

Lincoln, Nob., Nov. 23.-Health Oftincoln, Nob., Nov. 23.—Health Of-ficer Rhodes this morning went out to No. 1625 D street and tacked a quar-antine card upon Hon. W. J. Bryan's house. Ruth, the 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan, and the eldest child in the household, is afflicted with diphtheria and the usual precautionary measures had to be taken by the authorities to prevent the spreading of the disease. The doctors in attendance pronounced the attack to be a slight one, and have hopes of a speedy disap-pearance of the malady.

The quarantine will not materially affect Mr. Bryan's moveyments, nor did it prevent his departure for Denver at 6 o'clock this evening. He expects to return Thanksgiving day, and if possible will begin active work on his forthcoming book.

MURDERED BY HUNS.

Mr. and Mrs. Casper Laboy of Nesqueboning Are the Victims of Midpight Marauders and Cut-throats.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 23.—The min-ing town of Nesquehoning, in Carbon county, was the scene of the wildest excitement yesterday when it became known that a terrible murder had been committed, the victim being Mrs. Cas-per Laboy and her husband. The for-mer was instantly killed and the latter fatally wounded.

The prepetrators of the crime are three unknown Hungarians who were arrested by a number of citizens while in the attempt to make their escape. and had it not been for the interfer ence of the coal and iron police all three would have been lynched. The prisoners were taken to Mauch Chunk and are now in fall awaiting a hear ing.
The Laboys have always been looked

The Laboys have always been looked upon as upright hard working people, and during the past ten years have accumulated quite a snug sum of money. To secure their hard-earned earnings which were supposed to be hidden in their home, the murderers entered the house at an early hour in the morning. On hearing their footsteps Mrs. Laboy became aroused and awakened her husband. A moment later and at the sight of one of the inawakened her husband. A moment lat-er and at the sight of one of the in-truders Laboy jumped from his bed and a scuffle ensued, but before he could do anything the three grabbed him and in an instant he lay prostrated on the floor. Mrs. Laboy started for the on the floor. Mrs. Laboy started for the street to give an alarm, but before she reached the foot of the stairs she was overtaken by one of the Hungarians, who with a stunning blow burled the blade of a stiletto deep into her breast, causing almost instant death. The robbers then became alarmed on hearing a noise on the outside, and before escaping from the residence they slashed caping from the residence they slashed Laboy with their knife in a most hor-rible manner, leaving him, as they auntosed, dead on the floor.

When it became known that a mur-der had been committed a posse of citizens was formed and a thorough search was made for the assassing Every foot of ground was gone over in the neighborhood, and on reaching an old shanty near the railroad station, they found three burly looking Hungarians. They were spattered with blood and each had the appearance of being able to speak English and it was all the officers could do to keep the people from stringing tham to a

CROKER IS HOPEFUL.

Thinks that Democrats Will Get Together at Next Campaign.

New York, Nov. 23.-Richard Croker, since his return from Europe Saturday has persistently refused to be interviewed on the political situation. This morning, however, he talked on the outlook for next year. He said: "From all that I have heard I believe Tammany will present a solid front in the next campaign. The indications are that all Democrats will get together for the local fight next year and I am confident they will do so. The people know by this time that Tammany can give to the city a better and more economical administration than the Republicans have done and the sentiment seems to be in favor of a united Democracy next year."

Mr. Croker declined to express any opinion on the course of Tammany in the last campaign.

MYSTERIOUS SUICIDE.

Thousands Review the Remains at New tork Morgue.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 23.—Two thousand persons called at the city morgue to see the remains of the young woman who shot herself on Revere avenue vesterday morning, but no one identified her. A dispatch signed F. C. Fowler was received from South Amboy, ask-ing if the dead woman had a mole on her left breast, and if one of her teeth was missing. Another inquiry in the same dispatch was whether she was five feet three inches tall.

The mole and the missing tooth are features of the suicide's description. but she is over five feen seven inches The authorities are waiting to hear more from the South Amboy party.

Prive Tears for Weatherly.

Philadelphia, Nov. 23.—Dr. T. Ogden Weatherly, who was convicted on Monday last of having caused the death of Mary A. Winward, aged 18 years, by malpractice, was today sentenced by Judge Beitler, in the court of oyer and termines, to five years imprisonment at "separate and solitary confinement" in the Eastern penitentiary. He was also fined $500.

Pay Law Violated.

Shamokin, Pa., Nov. 23.—Owing to the men at Patterson colliery not being paid last Saturday they went on strike this morning, and notified State Factory Inspector Campbell that the semi-monthly pay law had been violated. He arrived this afternoon, and tonight conferred with the employes and officials. One thousand men and boys are idle.

Leak in the New York.

The cruiser New York, like the unlucky Texas, is now troubled with a leak, which has caused much annoyance. The section shown above will give an idea of the location of the leak. The lower of the two crosses is at a point where the injection tube admits seawater to the condenser. The water passes out by way of the ejector, at a point indicated by the upper cross, just below the water line. There is a leak near the upper cross, so that water trickles into a coal bunker there. That is a water-tight compartment, so the leak could in no way damage the cruiser. The leak in the Texas was at a point near the lower cross, allowing the water to rush in and flood many compartments.

PRINCETON PANDEMONIUM.

The Students Celebrate the Foot Ball Victory in Lively Style.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 23.-All Prince on was out tonight and celebrating in ton was out tonight and celebrating in earnest. A base ball championship and a foot ball championship, both in the same year, has filled the under graduates with enthusiasm. Early in the afternoon the bulletin board bore the notice:

"Everybody get wood," and it was not long before the first load of boxes and barrels arrived at the old cannon. As soon as it became dusk whole sections of fences, together with ash boxes tions of fences, together with ash boxes and other property, which was not convenient to get in broad day light, began to come in. By 8 o'clock the pile had assumed mammoth proportions, being over fifty feet in diameter and nearly as high. About this time pandemonium broke lose. The bell in old north tower was kept constantly ringing and shot cuns revolvers and fire ing and shot guns, revolvers and fire crackers added to the medley, while from the region of the new library building came the shrill notes of the steam whistles on the hoisting en-gines. A brass band then came on the campus playing the "Triangle Song," and the refrain was caught up by over a thousand voices. All the students formed in line and marched about the formed in line and marched about the town, fifty of them drawing a coach decorated in orange and black in which were the victorious Tiger foot ball team, the champions of '95.

So intense was the heat that it set on fire the trees surrounding the quadrangle,maktrees surrounding the quadrangle,making it necessary to put the hose on them. While the fire burned the students gathered about Clio hall. Alexander Moffat, Frank Morse and "Scotty" McMasters spoke and all declared that Yale must be beaten again in '97. The hilarity continued late into the night and the under graduates worked off their exuberance of joy by dancing about the glowing heap as long as it continued to blaze.

Point Arena, Cal., Nov. 23.-After clinging to the rigging of the wrecked steamer San Benito twenty-seven hours, twenty-three men were rescued by the steamer Wrott this morning and transferred to the steamer Point Arena, which took them to Mendocino. The rescue was a most hazardous under-taking. Repeated attempts were made to reach the wreck, but the sea was so rough that it was impossible for a boat to live in it. After midnight, how-ever, the waves began to abate and a heat from the steamer Wrott after the boat from the steamer Wrott, after the greatest difficulty, reached the wreck. DEDICATION OF NEW JERSEY'S SHAFT

AN ARTISTIC MEMORIAL UNVEILED

Some of the Leading Sons of the State Have Their Pictures Taken at the Base of the Beautiful Monument. Impromptu Addresses Made.

Chatanooga, Tenn., Nov. 23.—The dedication in the orchard knob reservation of the great Chickamauga and Chatanooga national military park of the New Jersey monument, which was un-veiled today, marks the first of the many minor or state celebrations to follow the imposing ceremonies of dedication week in September, 1895, when the park was formally opened. In a way, today's celebration is unique, the New Jersey shaft, unlike the various regimental markers on the battle field being designed rather as a memorial to the valor of her sons in battle, though more specifically as a memorial to the Thirty-third and Thirteenth regiments. The Thirteenth did no actual fighting at Chattanooga but was held

The ceremony began at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the presence of a large assemblages, despite a dull, threaten ing sky.

The New Jersey party consisting of the state commission, Senator Edward C. Stokes, personal representative of Governor Griggs; the governor's staff, E. C. Stahl, commander department of New Jersey Grand Army of the Republic, and members of the legislature were photographed standing at the base of the monument in three groups.

THE EXERCISES.

The exercises opened with prayer by Rev. W. J. Trimble. John J. Toffey, of New Jersey, chairman of the state commission, presided, and introduced Judge Francis Childs, who made the speech for the commission transferring the finished work to the state, by proxy for the governor of New Jersey. Edward C. Stokes received the tender and responded in a stirring address trans-ferring it to the United States war department, General J. S. Fullerton, on behalf of the department, accepted the monument in a patriotic rejoiner. Impromptu addresses were then lis-tened to from H. Clay Evans, Chatta-nooga; General George W. Mindell, of New York, commander of the Thirtythird New Jersey volunteers and Ma-jor M. H. Lambert, Philadelphia, of the same regiment. The memorial is a slender obelisk, of grey Massachusetts granite, 40 feet high, exquisite in exe-cution and surmounted by a life size soldier, apparently chiseled from the same rock. New Jersey's appropria-tion of $5,000 was exhausted in this shaft, which is the most ornamental so far completed.

The distinguished party will return tonight and tomorrow. Governor Griggs was detained at home by the meeting of the electoral college of New fersey.
